HESHBON 1968

THE FIRST CAMPAIGN AT TELL HESBAN

VOLUME II

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY MONOGRAPHS
A. Area B: view from the top on Wall 17B (running from top to bottom). To the left are cross Walls 27, 21, 28 and 25B, lying south of Wall 17B. The structure at the right of Wall 17B is an auxiliary balk.

B. Area B: the narrow foundation trench on the north side of Wall 17B, visible in the auxiliary balk between the meter stick and the wall to the left.
Architectural features surrounding the church:

A. Areas A: The fragment of a mosaic floor (A. 4:5) from the central aisle of the church.

B. Area A: Mosaic floor fragment (A. 4:5) shown in relationship to the north wall (A. 3:5). In the center, a fragment of the church with the interior aisle covered (A. 3:5). To the right are the column bases of the church and beyond them, the church.

Area A: Looking north over all four squares. In the right foreground is the aisle.
A. Area D: the stairway in Square 2 with Wall D. 2.2
The north face and the bottom face of the north face of the masonry is seen.

B. Area A: the north face of north wall of the church (A. 1.5) in Square 2.3. The two column bases behind it stand on the balk between Squares 2 and 4.

Column bases behind it stand on the balk between Squares 2 and 4.
Plate XXI

A. Headless skeleton of a large canter found under Locus 21 in Area B.

Plate XXII

B. A variety of fragments from colored glass vessels and glass bracteates.

Painted Arab vessels from the cistern of Area C.
A. A pottery handle with a Latin seal inscription (Actual size)

B. The Heshbon ostracon. (About 1½ times enlarged). Photo: John C. Trever